Our Mission

The CCAC Guild will promote arts and crafts in Onslow County, and surrounding areas, by providing a networking group that will encourage and nurture fellow artists and crafters through meetings, social functions, and sponsored events. The CCAC Guild will accomplish this mission by providing artists and crafters opportunities to share, show and demonstrate their creative talents; to participate in forums, to exchange ideas with others; to engage in educational opportunities such as guest speakers and literature exploration; and to provide marketing opportunities for their craft.

I am Kate Hardee, relatively new to CCAC but a long time resident of Jacksonville, remaining here when my husband retired from the Marine Corps. The end of one employment offered me the opportunity to start a business working with all the items that I enjoy....fabrics, yarns, beads and all types of textiles.

Initially my products have been offered through craft show venues. I will soon have a web storefront up and running so that I can reach a wider clientele.

Cindy at By His Design is helping me to properly set this up and to optimally display my products. I don't yet know from personal experience, but I would suggest that the serious entrepreneur might consider their own storefront site, rather than depending solely on sites such as E-Bay and Etsy.

Planning the scope of products to be offered has occupied much of my time. I am currently producing all of my items myself and am learning what products I can offer on a productive cost basis. I don't want to end up not paying myself! As Cindy says I want this to be a job, not a jobby!

Meeting members of CCAC has really encouraged me in this endeavor. They have offered feedback on what they think of the selection of items I have to offer for sale. I have also taken advantage of some small business classes offered at Coastal Community College. Learning even a few relevant ideas from each class is rewarding.

Currently I am offering items including purses, cowl scarves, magnetic scarves, wrap beach dresses, bathing suit wraps and felted bracelets.

Opportunities

Fine Art and Wine Paint & Drank in Jacksonville!

People get together, they bring their drink of choice (it could be wine or not, whatever they'd like) and I supply the rest of the materials to paint and create! We all have some drinks and do a painting together. Each person gets to leave with their own 16x20 canvas masterpiece that they've created. It's a ton of fun !

Messages

** We have our Non Profit, Article of Incorporation !! Step one ... checkmark !
Next we need to form a Board and elect Officers, and tweak our Bylaws.
Do you know of anyone that has served on a Board and loves what we do ??
Contact Laura Voss at 910-938-7077 or ccacguild or Heather Baldwin at Heather@ccacguild.org

** Joyce Clark resigned her position as Treasurer. Anyone interested in filling the rest of her term please contact Laura or Heather at ccacguild@yahoo.com . We appreciate her setting our record keeping in the right path for Non Profit status.

** Anyone interested in picking up the newsletter and making it print ready please contact Laura or Heather. Anna Pasquale has been under a lot of pressure with family illness and will not be doing our monthly newsletter.. Anna's talent and creativity is commendable.

Summer time fun with paper, paints and much more. Let us know if you would like to join in as we create items using equipment and techniques you may have not tried before !! Initiation is open to everyone – not just Guild Members. Give us a call to let us know when you will be back from vacation or would like to get together. 910-938-7077
